As part of its ongoing efforts to grow to 3,800 police officers, the MPDC will hold its Fourth Annual Police Career Expo on Saturday, June 28, 2003, at the new Washington Convention Center, from 9 am to 5 pm. Recruiters and background investigators will be at the event, and testing for the position of police officer will be conducted on site throughout the day. In addition, various specialized units of the MPDC—including the Explosive Ordnance Division, Forensic Sciences, and the Canine and Helicopter units—will be on hand to discuss their work, demonstrate their state-of-the-art equipment and talk about career advancement opportunities within the MPDC. The Career Expo is the kickoff event of the MPDC's recruiting season. Other events throughout the year will include visits to military installations, community colleges and high schools, and various conferences and seminars targeting minorities and women, among others. Next November, the MPDC will make a return trip to Puerto Rico to conduct on-site testing for bilingual officers. The MPDC hopes to attract 1,200 applicants—both entry level and lateral hires—over the next year, as the Department works to meet its goal of 3,800 officers by September 2004.

SUMMER CRACKDOWN ON DRUNK DRIVING BEGINS

With the official start of summer, the MPDC is stepping up its drunk driving enforcement efforts. Beginning this weekend, the MPDC will be conducting at least one sobriety checkpoint a week, covering communities throughout DC. These regular sobriety checkpoints are part of the regional “Checkpoint Strikeforce” initiative, which resulted in the arrest of thousands of drunk drivers in DC and surrounding states last year. In addition, the MPDC is participating in the national “You Drink & Drive. You Lose” public information campaign. The MPDC hosted Transportation Secretary Norman Mineta and various other law enforcement agencies and advocacy groups for the campaign kickoff on Thursday, June 19 at MPDC Headquarters. Advertisements, in both English and Spanish, will run from June 20 through July 13 on national programs viewed primarily by 21–34 year-old males, the demographic group most likely to drive impaired. The ads focus on the legal consequences that violators face for drunk driving.
